

IPA (H3) Tracer Flow Pattern

Single Tracer (Tritiated Isopropyl Alcohol) Program from a single injector.

A sampling program began immediately following the injection and from the samples taken over the next hours (for the closest producers), days and months a pattern developed. It was determined which producers were in communication with this injector, where the flood was pushing the water and how quickly.